Corrosion Resistance Requirements – Map Set

Applies to Roof, Silver, and Gold

FORTIFIED Home – Hurricane (2020)

The FORTIFIED Home Standard has minimum corrosion protection requirements for homes located near a saltwater shoreline. These requirements can be found in FORTIFIED Home Technical Bulletin FH 2021-02: Corrosion Resistant Fasteners.

For the purposes of a FORTIFIED Home designation, saltwater shoreline shall be considered as the coastline along the mainland of the United States including seaward island coastlines. This includes the Atlantic, Pacific, and Gulf of Mexico coastlines, as well as the coastline of any bay with no land barrier separating it from being completely open to the ocean or Gulf of Mexico. Distances are measured from the closest feature of the subject building to the ocean or gulf coastline.

To provide additional guidance interpreting the definition of a saltwater shoreline, maps are provided for some areas. If you have questions on areas that are not included, please reach out to the FORTIFIED team for more information.
